

The Bamberg Herald

ESTABLISHED APRIL, 1891.

Published every Thursday in The Herald building, on Main street, in the live and growing city of Bamberg, being issued from a printing office which is equipped with Mergenthaler Linotype machine, Babcock cylinder press, folder, one jobber, a fine Miehle cylinder press, all run by electric power with other material and machinery in keeping, the whole equipment representing an investment of $10,000 and upwards.

Subscriptions—By the year $15.00; six months, 75 cents; three months, 50 cents. All subscriptions payable strictly in advance.

Advertisements—$1.00 per inch for first insertion, subsequent insertions 50 cents per inch. Legal advertisements at the rates allowed by law. Local reading notices 10 cents a line each insertion. Wants and other advertisements under special head, 1 cent a word each insertion. Liberal contracts made for three, six, and twelve months. Write for rates. Obituaries, tributes of respect, resolutions, cards of thanks, and all notices of a personal or political character are charged for as regular advertising. Contracts for advertising not subject to cancellation after first insertion.

Communications—We are always glad to publish news letters or those pertaining to matters of public interest. We require the name and address of the writer in every case. No article which is defamatory or offensively personal can find place in our columns at any price, and we are not responsible for the opinions expressed in any communication.

Thursday, March 4, 1915.

After the next rain use the split-log drag.

We are delighted to see our old contemporary, the Herald and News, among our exchanges again. Col. E. H. Aull has been made the editor of the reorganized paper, and it is stated that the company is on a good basis.

On another page of The Herald today we print the local option compulsory education bill as it was enacted into law. The law should be read carefully by every one interested in education. It will be noted that the law can be invoked by either an election or petition.

The Bamberg Herald says that "it is now up to the people of Orangeburg to secure an extension of the B. E. & W. railroad to connect with the Coast Line." Seems to us that Orangeburg has already had a big hand in the new road in the person of our Mr. W. C. Wolfe.—Orangeburg Sun.

The people of this county appreciate the services rendered by Mr. Wolfe, and trust that he will keep up the good work by having the extension made. Bamberg has contributed largely financially toward this project, and it seems to us Orangeburg would be the largest beneficiary if the road is extended.

The patrons and friends of the Carlisle school greatly appreciate the magnificent donation of Mr. C. F. Rizer for a gymnasium. The building is soon to be erected, and will fill a long felt need of the school. With a competent instructor, who will be employed as soon as the building is erected, Carlisle will be second to no school of its class in this State. The school is this year receiving the most liberal patronage in its history, the enrollment being larger than at any previous session, notwithstanding the war and business depression. It is safe to say that the school with the gymnasium added next term will have a yet larger attendance.

Bamberg people have never been conspicuous in the matter of church going.—Bamberg Herald. We can speak better of the Newberry people. They go to church. And they hear good sermons.—Newberry Herald and News.

We are glad to know the Newberry people go to church so well. We wish they would extend their influence all over the State, because there is no better way of spending Sunday than going twice to church. But, frankly, if all the people in Newberry went to church that should Newberry would need more churches. And the writer has never seen "standing room only" congregations there. Fact is there are very few places in the State or anywhere else where the people attend church as they attend other meetings.

The Bamberg Herald says it was very early in the session when it denounced the legislature for doing nothing; but it changed its mind later on. Our contemporary spoke too quick. And there were others—and all of them, with insignificant exceptions, had the fairness at the close to commend the work of the session.—Newberry Observer.

We usually say what we have to say when the saying thereof may be of benefit. It is the easiest thing in the world to bestow praise. It is not easy to criticize, but sometimes when even a legislative body is apathetic a few words of criticism may spur it on. Our friend will have to acknowledge that a lot of valuable time was spent in Columbia before anything of any consequence was done. It is not a good policy to put off important work until the last moment—therein lies a danger of that work not being properly performed.

NEW OTTOMAN CAPITAL.

Allied Fleet Creates Great Stir in Near East.

London, March 1.—The flags of Great Britain and France now are flying at the entrance of the Dardanelles, over the Turkish forts reduced by the sea forces of the allies.

While it would appear that the allied fleet has reached Chanak, 15 miles from the Mediterranean entrance to the straits, the British press warns the public not to expect the immediate fall of Constantinople.

Nevertheless, the operations of the British and French warships against the sea defenses of Constantinople are creating a tremendous stir in the near east. Brouse, in Asiatic Turkey, has been selected by the Turks as their new capital in case it becomes necessary to evacuate Constantinople. It is declared the Germans in Turkey had advised removal to Adrianople in European Turkey.

Interest in the fighting along the eastern battle front has been deflected for the moment from the Carpathians to north Poland, where the Russians appear to be making a desperate effort to regain the ground Field Marshal von Hindenburg won when he threw them back from east Prussia. The stubborn struggle continues on the line from the Bober to the Nerew, where Grand Duke Nicholas has yet to establish his ascendancy.

Vienna reports a violent engagement in Bukovina without saying anything about the outcome, while Petrograd claims to have checked the Austro-German advance in this region.

In the west interest centres on the Champagne district, where fierce attacks and counter attacks have marked operations of the last week. Berlin claims to have repulsed the continued French advances in that region, while Paris asserts the French troops have been successful in making progress and repulsing the German counter attacks.

Paris claims also the capture of 2,000 yards of trenches northwest and north of Beausejour.

Practically all discussion of the diplomatic situation has been suspended in the expectation of the statement Premier Asquith is to make in parliament this afternoon on the steps the allies probably will take to meet the menace of the German submarine campaign.

PROHIBITION BY COUNTIES.

Minnesota House Passes County Option Measure.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 24.—The Minnesota house of representatives tonight passed the county option measure making prohibition a county issue. The measure has passed the senate.

Supporters of the bill say its enactment into law will mean the elimination of saloons from three-fourths of the counties of this State.

Diplomacy.

"This is pretty time to come home, I must say!" squealed the wife of a very good friend of ours no longer ago than Thursday night, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. "And it's a fine condition you are in too! What have you to say for yourself?"

"It was like this, darling girl," enunciated our friend distinctly.

"Like what?" butted in his wife "What was it you asked me?"

"I asked you what you had to say for yourself?"

"Well, gee-whiz! You got me all mixed up now. I had lots o' things to say, but when you jump on me that way, I can't think o' one of them."

"Come into the house and don't make a spectacle of yourself."

"Aha! Now you are getting all the evidence on your side! Ain't that just like a woman? I could 'a made money outa the excuse I had for not coming home tonight. Several of my friends said they were real litrachoors. But they don't go with you. No sir. You nip genius in the bud; you spoil your own chances as the wife of a successful author—and for what? So to ruin me, you persist in petty annoyances to my comfort—you—"

"Oh, darling!" she sobbed, melted to tears. "I didn't mean that. I didn't know I was doing that. I only wanted to know why you were out so late!"

"Well, now that you know, I'll promise not to refer to it again if you will promise never to talk that way again."

And darned if he didn't get away with it!

What Interested Her.

"The overture is about to begin. We might as well go in."

"Did you get your wife a book of the opera?"

"No, she doesn't care for the opera. I would pay well, however, for a catalogue or price list of the jewels being worn in the boxes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FRANK CASE RESTS AWHILE.

Probably Weeks Before Supreme Court Decides.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Arguments on the Northern Georgia federal court's decision refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Leo M. Frank, under death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan, were concluded before the United States supreme court today. A decision probably will not be given for at least several weeks.

Should the supreme court affirm the decision of the lower federal court no legal obstacle, it is said, would stand in the way of carrying out the death sentence. If the ruling is reversed, counsel for Frank and the State told the court, the case must go back to the district court for the taking of evidence on which the allegations for the petition for the writ were based.

The court was informed by Frank's attorneys that should the writ be granted Frank could be tried again under the pending indictment. The State's counsel questioned this assertion.

BERNHARDT'S AMBITION.

Tragedienne States Plans for Future and Hopes Soon to Begin Work.

Paris, Feb. 24.—"Seven months of suffering and the shock of operation have paled Sarah Bernhardt's cheeks, but her eyes have the same wonderful depth and her voice the same tones," says the Journal's Bordeaux correspondent. "But the tragedienne declares all her suffering 'is more than compensated by the tokens of sympathy I have received from the most illustrious and the humblest alike.'"

"To the question: 'Were you not frightened?' she answered: 'Frightened? Not at all. I fell asleep, hearing far-away harmonious chimes. Then I awoke to live again. Already I am free from suffering, happy and full of courage, and now I am going to get well quickly. I shall obey the doctors implicitly, but as soon as they permit I shall retake my place in the world. I shall reopen my theatre next month. As soon as I have recovered completely I shall resume my classes at the conservatory, and then move Heaven and earth to realize my dream—create Rostand's "Princess Lointaine."'

MURDER IS SONG'S CLIMAX.

Mexican, Goaded to Fury, Shoots Off Rival's Fingers.

Two men were slain and a third dangerously wounded in a gun and knife fight caused by a love song and a guitar at Montebello.

Fanned into a frenzy by the melodious strains of a Mexican love ditty, sung and picked on a two-stringed guitar by Manuel Arroyo, his rival for the hand of a pretty senorita of Montebello, Robert Martinez, first shot the fingers from the hand at the strings, then crushed Arroyo's head with the gun butt, and turned to go.

As Martinez reached the door he was confronted by Victor Arroyo, brother of the dead man, and Juan Zuingo, a friend. Martinez grappled with Zuingo and beat him on the head with the gun butt. Victor Arroyo was begging his brother to speak to him. Martinez floored Zuingo and started for the door. Zuingo pulled his revolver and shot Martinez in the back, killing him instantly.

Half an hour later Deputy Sheriffs Fox, Nolan, Reeder and Modie were at the scene of the fierce battle near the Simons brick yard. Victor Arroyo had disappeared in the meantime and none of the Mexican residents was able to give the officers valuable information. The deputies later learned through friends of the dead men that each was desperately in love with a black-eyed girl, daughter of a Mexican ranchman, living nearby.

According to Deputy Sheriff Fox, Martinez, who bunked a few feet from the Arroyo house, heard Arroyo singing his love song to his sweetheart. Insane from jealousy and strong drink, he quietly crept from his bunk to the window of Arroyo's bunkhouse and shot the fingers from his right hand. Then he rushed into the house and battered him to death.—Los Angeles Times

DIES ON WAY TO GRAVE.

Succumbs in Car Going to Cemetery Where Husband Lies.

While going to the grave of her husband in Bayside cemetery, Mrs. Rebecca Stone, 56 years of age, of 607 West 184th street, was taken ill at the New York approach to the Brooklyn bridge and died within a few moments. Dr. Feilder, of Hudson street hospital, said death probably was caused by heart failure.

Mrs. Stone was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Jennie Flatto, of 610 West 152 street, whose son, Dr. Isidore Flatto, of the same address, took charge of the body.—New York Herald.

SAYS GUILT IS PATENT.

Justice Gage Affirms Judgment Against Charleston Liquor Seller.

Columbia, March 1.—"There is no room for parley, the defendant is guilty by his own mouth," says Associate Justice Gage in an opinion affirming the judgment of the Charleston county court in the case of the State against S. T. Schiadaressi. "This is a case of novel impression," says the court.

"The defendant was tried in the recorder's court on the charge of selling alcohol. Later the defendant was convicted in the circuit court. There were 11 exceptions in the appeal. It would be frivolous to consider the exceptions in face of the defendant's own admission on the witness stand." The sale was charged to have been made on Sunday, October 23, 1913. Continuing the decision says: "The defendant testified 'there was no drinking in my bar Sunday at all. I only sold it myself the next morning when I was there.' The language of the seventh exception smells of the gutter."

Depot at Cope Robbed.

Cope, Feb. 28.—The Atlantic Coast Line depot at this place was entered Friday night, but the robbers secured little booty. Some stamps and small change are the only things missing. Several "buffalo" nickels were left in the cash drawer. Entrance was gained by prying open the door with a bar. Agent Carter and Chief Dowle are quietly working on the case and hope to land the burglars.

Quips and Quiddities.

There could be no dispute in the matter. The jockey was just over weight—only the merest fraction, but enough to disqualify him.

The disappointed owner glanced from the little rider to the scales, then to the rider again.

"William," he said, "can't you do something to lighten yourself a bit?"

"No sir, ain't 'ad a bit of any sort these two days."

"Hum! Shaved?"

"Yes, sir, five minutes ago."

"Finger nails?"

The jockey held out his hands. The nails were clipped almost to the quick.

For a moment the owner was silent. Then a bright idea occurred to him.

"Run away and have your tonsils cut," he shouted. "Hurry, lad, hurry!"

How To Give Quinine To Children.

FEBRILINE is the trade-mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a Tasteless Syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine.

Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate nor cause nervousness nor ringing in the head. Try it the next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for 2-ounce original package. The name FEBRILINE is blown in bottle. 25 cents.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE IN KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp-Root.

Yours very truly,

H. W. SPINKS, Camp Hill, Ala.

Personally appeared before me this 16th day of August, 1909, H. W. Spinks, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Bamberg Weekly Herald. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

TO CORRECT A FALSE REPORT.

It has been circulated that one of my patients was poisoned by a dose of medicine which was bought from Mack's Drug Store, and labeled quinine sulphate. This report is absolutely untrue as the bottle was correctly labeled and contained quinine sulphate. The patient here referred to suffered from an attack of acute indigestion, and there were no poisonous symptoms. In justice to myself and Mack's Drug Store I make this report.
